Association for Women in Technology Presents Sixth Annual Wine Tasting and Silent Auction Benefiting Scholarship Fund

Featuring wines from Morey Cellars, the event's silent auction raises funds for the AWT's Charitable Foundation Scholarship

IRVINE, Calif., June 14, 2007 — The Association for Women in Technology (AWT), an organization dedicated to the advancement of women and girls in all fields of technology, announced today its Sixth Annual Wine Tasting and Silent Auction benefiting the AWT Charitable Foundation Scholarship Fund. The evening's silent auction features wines, dining/entertainment packages and luxury items.

"We are excited to announce our first scholarship recipient, Gabriella Marcu, who will apply her scholarship monies toward studies in informatics at the University of California, Irvine Donald Bren School of Information and Computer Sciences," said Annette Smith, president, AWT. "All of the women who apply for our scholarships are among the top candidates in academia and industry, and we want to be able to increase our support by offering multiple scholarship awards in the future. We can accomplish this through the continued support of our members, businesses and community."

The AWT Scholarship is administered through the University of California, Irvine. The first scholarship recipient was announced and recognized earlier in May 2007. AWT will use the funds raised at this year's event to help support women and girls pursuing education in technology for next year's program.
