New UCI Building: Bren Hall Houses WICS Awards Ceremony and Dinner

IRVINE, CA (June 6, 2007) – On the campus of the University of California of Irvine, the Women in Information and Computer Science at UCI had an end of the year awards ceremony and dinner. This event was held in their new building, Bren Hall, which houses the Donald Bren School of Information and Computer Sciences.

Last year, the Women in Information and Computer Science at UCI won a computer science award for their Mock Interview Program. WICS introduced their faculty and various organizations present at the dinner like AWT, Girls, Inc., and Jobing.com that were involved with the organization throughout the year. Lori Shapiro, Treasure of AWT mentioned, “The evening was really nice and the new Bren Hall was a great accomplishment for UCI and their Information and Computer Science Department.” Various members of WICS also won awards for their involvement and dedication to the organization.

AWT prides themselves with helping women and girls in Southern California to advance in all fields of technology. President of AWT Annette Smith, stated, “we look forward to assisting WICS with sponsorship at their future events to come.”
